Strengthening Families™ is a research-based approach to working with families in a way that develops and enhances their strengths. It is based on engaging families, programs and communities in building five protective factors: Parental resilience; Social connections; Knowledge of parenting and child development; Concrete support in times of need; and Social and emotional competence of children.

Through this introductory training, participants will learn an overview of the five Protective Factors, understand what it means to work with families in a strength-based way, and be able to identify strategies to help families cultivate protective factors. All are welcome.
